

Car Jumps Curb, Knocks Down Tree

WIND GAP—A car driven by Glenn Overpeck, 20, Pen Argyl, RD 1, went out of control on Alpha Rd. at 5:40 p. m. yesterday, crossed the street, jumped the curb and knocked down a tree.

Both car and tree hit the porch of the home of Brooks Kromer at 707 Alpha Rd. Damage to the porch was estimated at $300 while the car was demolished.

Overpeck told Police Chief Leo Reinhart his car skidded as he applied the brakes on a curve. Overpeck suffered a cut and bump of the forehead.

Reinhart says he will charge the driver with driving too fast for conditions.

Power Fails In Two Localities

APPROXIMATELY 1,300 customers of Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. in the area between Mt. Pocono and Fern Ridge were affected by a power failure starting at 8 p.m. yesterday.

A spokesman for the company said at 11:45 p.m. that service in about one-third of the area was restored at 8:34 p.m., another one-third at 8:50 and the remainder was expected to be restored in a short time.

He said snow, freezing rain and sleet contributed to the failure of an insulator, which caused the disruption.

Shortway Link Set For Contract

ALBANY — The New York State Public Works Dept. Wednesday announced that it will contract during the fiscal year which started April 1 for 2.6 miles of the North-South Expressway between Binghamton and Canada.

The stretch of highway, officially known as Interstate Rt. 81, will be part of the Penn-Can Highway which will link this area with Canada.

Interstate 81 will connect with the Keystone Shortway at Crescent Lake, west of Scotrun.

CANADENSIS — Police Chief Harry Campbell of Barrett Township last night arrested Wilmer C. Hibbs, 18, Newfoundland, and Charles H. Engliert, 20, Mt. Pocono, and charged them with breaking and entering.

Campbell said the pair broke into the Joyce Cottage at Canadensis. They were confined to Monroe County Jail to await a hearing.

GSA To Receive Bids On ESC Job

HARRISBURG — The General State Authority announced Thursday it will receive bids May 9 for the construction of a service building and garage at East Stroudsburg State College.

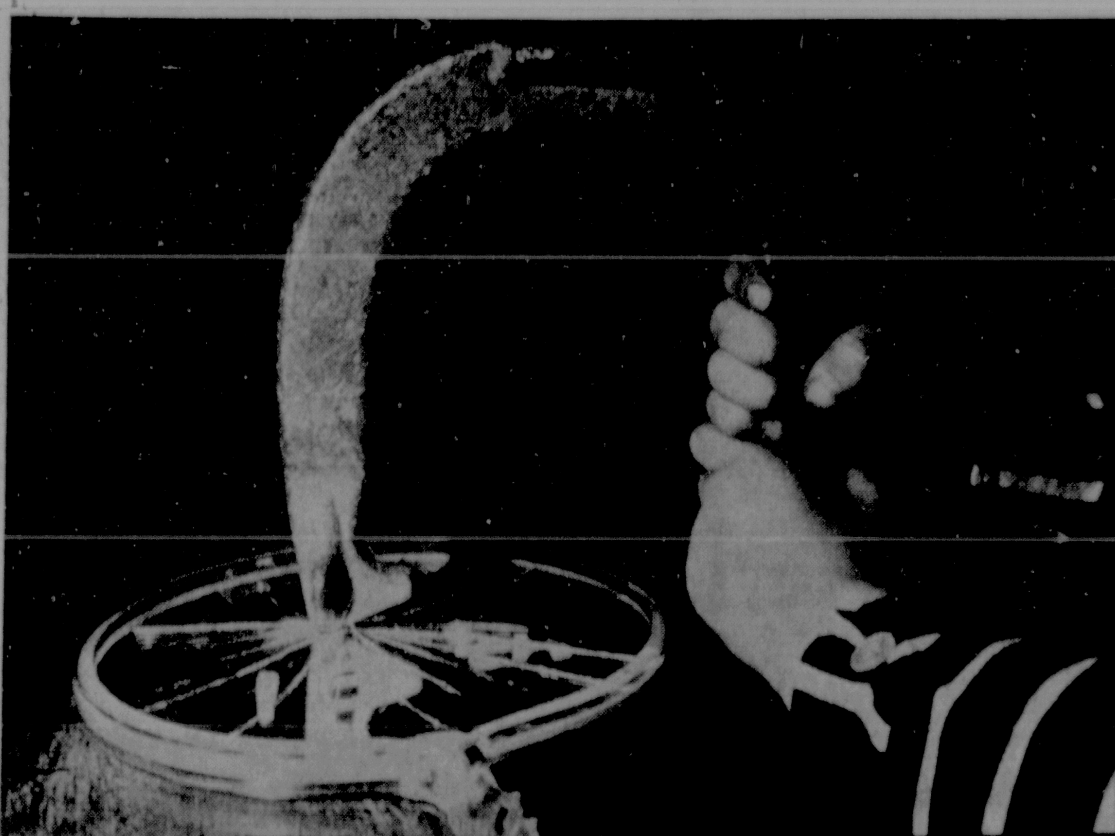

Bids on the project were originally received Jan. 31, but exceeded the authority's allocation of $65,400. Plans for the work have been revised in an effort to bring the project within the allocation, the authority said.

U.S.-Soviet Berlin Talks Set To Resume Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—New U.S.-Soviet talks on Berlin will start Monday and Gen. Lucius D. Clay said Thursday a peaceful settlement of the long-festering dispute may be possible.

Rain And Snow Hit Poconos

Rain in the lower elevations and rain and snow in the Mountainous areas — that was the weather picture in the Pocono Mountains yesterday.

Rain began to fall in the Stroudsburgs about noon and by 9 p.m. a total of .17 of an inch was recorded on The Daily Record rain gauge.

A steady drizzle, interspersed with heavier showers and temperatures in the low 40s and high 30s made it a miserable day for both pedestrian and vehicular traffic.

Mt. Pocono and other high points reported snow in the late hours of the day, but no appreciable accumulation was expected.

The Weather Bureau at Scranton - Wilkes-Barre Airport at Avoca gave no promise of relief.

Its forecast for today calls for cloudy and windy weather with showers, turning colder. A high of 45 degrees is predicted.

State Department press officer Lincoln White announced that Secretary of State Dean Rusk has called in the new Soviet ambassador, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Monday afternoon for another U.S.-Soviet discussion on ways to solve the Germany-Berlin issue.

Previous U.S.-Soviet rounds on this major cold war sore point were conducted last fall and again earlier this year with inconclusive results. The Russians continued to press for a Berlin solution which the Western powers say would damage their vital interests in the city.

The announcement came as Clay, who is quitting his assignment as President Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin, was reporting separately to Kennedy and Rusk on the situation of the Communist-surrounded city.

The retired general, known as the man who broke the Red's 1948-49 Berlin blockade, gave newsmen the most optimistic picture to come publicly from a high U.S. official since Soviet Premier Khrushchev set off the current Berlin crisis nearly a year ago.

Kennedy Not Optimistic

Kennedy himself declined to express optimism at his news conference Wednesday although he announced Clay's return and the forthcoming relief of U.S. Reservists called to active duty last summer.

Clay, who was sent to West Berlin last September to boost the city's morale following the Communist's erection of the Berlin Wall, said he told Rusk, "We have reached a new position as far as the Allies are concerned in Berlin. Tensions are less than they have been for some time, and the situation will probably last for some time to come."

Improved Atmosphere

Noting the halt of the Soviet harassments of Berlin air corridors and other developments, he said in the improved atmosphere, there's more hope of negotiations being successful than there is in a period of danger and tension.

"The West Berliners have regained their morale and have recovered from the shock of the wall," Clay continued. "They realize our determination to maintain the access, the independence, and the viability (economic soundness) of West Berlin."

Clay, however, did caution that "It's important to remember we have won a battle—it's a victory for us—but we have not won a campaign."

Hospital Campaign Reaches $782,246

THE MONROE County General Hospital Expansion Program received a big boost last night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel when workers of the BIGS Division reported additional gifts of $35,456. The Expansion Program now stands at $782,246.79.

Leading the way were workers in the Industrial employees group reporting $16,258. Other division totals were Business—$1,740, Government—$4,354, and Schools—$10,739.

General chairman Arlington W. Williams paid special tribute to the employees of the Stroudsburg Post Office as they reported 100% participation.

Spencer Cramer, chairman of the special gifts division reported an additional $9,530 raising their total to $42,465.

Special music was provided by Mrs. Robert Hubert, vocalist accompanied at the piano by Mrs. William Serfass. George Graff of the arrangements committee was in charge of the program.

Rev. Peter K. Emmons urged the group not to rest now with the job half done but to push forward with renewed energies to finish the work by the next report meeting. He added, "If we do the job we know we can do we will all have a tremendous sense of personal gratification knowing we did our share in building a Hospital for all those to follow us."

A final report is scheduled for April 25 to coincide with the kickoff of the Family Gifts Division. A complete picture of total gifts may be found in the Good Neighbor Scoreboard on the front page of this issue.

Return To Classroom:

N.Y. Teachers Acquiesce To Court Order

NEW YORK (AP)—A teachers union reluctantly bowed to a court order Thursday, and ended a one-day strike that crippled the New York public school system. Picket lines vanished and classrooms almost instantly returned to normal in the city's 900 schools.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced that he was stepping into the school deadlock, which revolves around money available to the city for teachers' pay increases.

There was resentment on the part of some of the city's one-million public school children over having to submit anew to the normal educational routine. About 1,500 boys demonstrated for 10 minutes before entering Stuyvesant High School in lower Manhattan, and there were similar displays of foot-dragging at other schools.

However, there was no repetition of Wednesday's unruliness, when thousands of youngsters, relieved of the yoke of discipline, ran wild inside school buildings and rampaged on the streets.

At the height of the strike Wednesday, half the city's 40,000 teachers were out, and more than 20 schools were completely closed. Scores of others were unable to hold regular classes for lack of teachers, and had to improvise programs for the students.

Republican Gov. Rockefeller's move to enter the school deadlock came as leaders of the striking United Federation of Teachers vented their ire on Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner, blaming him for failure to meet their wage demands.

The union asked that salaries now ranging from $4,800 to $8,650 a year be increased to a range of $5,400 to $9,500—a $3-million-a-year package. The city claimed it could scrape up no more than $28 million.

UFT President Charles Cogen called Wagner irresponsible, acquiesced City Hall of maladministration and added, "If we have a citizenry in New York that cares about the welfare of the schools, they had better get on the mayor's back and do it fast."

Wagner, considered a possible candidate for governor against Rockefeller, blamed the school crisis on the state, which he said had shortchanged the city on school aid funds. Rockefeller replied by calling Wagner a buck passer.

U.S., Britain Reject Soviet Demand For N-Moratorium

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and Britain rejected Thursday a Soviet demand for an unpooled moratorium on nuclear weapons tests, despite mounting pressure from small nations in favor of such a step.

The two Western powers told the 17-nation disarmament conference they had been fooled once by Russian promises on the subject of testing and did not intend to fall into the same trap again. With a shake of his head, American Ambassador Arthur H. Dean said, "With regret, we do not have any confidence in a Soviet pledge."

Rejection of the moratorium means the United States test series now being prepared in the Christmas Island area of the central Pacific definitely will take place later this month unless the Russians at the last minute accept an internationally controlled nuclear test ban.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin said that was out of the question. He denounced again the policing arrangements favored by the Western powers to prevent cheating on a test ban treaty.

Zorin sprung the moratorium idea at a moment when the United States and Britain clearly were on the defensive. One after another, delegates from the smaller powers called for no more nuclear tests. Even America's close neighbors, Canada and Mexico, took this position.

Lt. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada said the hour is getting late to prevent a new testing race. He called on the three atomic powers—the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union—to make a supreme effort to resolve their differences and to show a willingness to compromise.

Lenten Meditation

By STEPHEN F. BORTLIK
Presiding Minister
East Stroudsburg Congregation
Jehovah's Witnesses

SINCERE observers have asked, how do Jehovah's Witnesses regard Lent?

Since Jehovah's Witnesses recognize the chastity and maturity of the First Century Church as an example for Christians today, they find it necessary to discover whether the early Christians observed Lent. The word "Lent" is nowhere in the Holy Scriptures.

Not that Jehovah's Word doesn't consider the propriety of observances, for Jehovah commanded Israel to keep certain days and Jesus gave an observance to Christians but only one, the memorial of his death.

When considering any other observance, Jehovah's Witnesses have noted the words of the Apostle Paul, who wrote to sincere Christians of his day: "You are scrupulously observing days and months and seasons and years. I fear for you, that somehow I have tolled to no purpose respecting you." (Galatians 4:10, 11, New World Translation of the Holy Scriptures).

This same pillar of the early Church shows that one can never gain Jehovah's approval by placing emphasis on physical things, things from which one must abstain, for he said in Romans 14:17: "For the kingdom of God does not mean eating and drinking, but (means) righteousness and peace and joy with holy spirit." (N.W.T.)

It is one's heart that God sees as Psalms 139:23 says: "Search through me, O God, and know my heart." (N.W.T.)

Concerning the observance, McClintock and Strong's Cyclopaedia tells us that Lent, "was introduced into the Church slowly and by degrees." Other sources establish the beginning of its present form to be about the 9th Century, A. D.

Jehovah's Witnesses continue to urge all to take to heart the words at Psalms 119:105: "Your word is a lamp to my foot, and a light to my roadway." (N.W.T.)

U.S. Steel Chairman Backs Firm's Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Thursday night he has ordered a grand jury investigation into the new round of steel price increases.

Kennedy made the disclosure in response to questions about a statement by U.S. Steel Corp. Board Chairman Roger Blough that his firm had been subpoenaed before a grand jury.

A spokesman for the Justice Department issued Kennedy's statement to newsmen several hours after Blough defended U.S. Steel's action in a televised New York news conference.

The attorney general's statement said the grand jury probing the price rise will be convened in New York. He did not say when.

The attorney general had watched the first few minutes of Blough's television rebuttal to administration criticism and refused to comment at that time.

Day-Long Speculation
His confirmation that the Justice Department would seek grand jury action in the steel price boosts came after day-long reports and speculation that Justice Department lawyers were studying possible court action.

An antitrust action against "Big Steel" was described as one of several possible moves under review as a result of the sudden wave of price increases in the steel industry.

President Kennedy's top aides gathered at the White House to survey the possibilities of action in the courts and in Congress.

Kennedy Sits In
Kennedy, who denounced the price rise initiated by U.S. Steel as "wholly unjustifiable and irresponsible," sat in during the last quarter-hour of the 45-minute meeting.

The emphasis afterward was on orderly deliberation. Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House inquiry planned

Mansfield said the Senate Antitrust Subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., "has taken up the ball" and another inquiry is planned by the House Antitrust Subcommittee led by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

Mansfield added that the Justice Department "has taken more than ordinary interest" in what he termed "this uncalculated and unnecessary" price increase.

Amid a welter of reports about possible Justice Department action, Asst. Atty. Gen. Lee Loevinger, head of the Antitrust Division, refused to go beyond the department's statement that it was taking a close look at the situation.

Inappropriate Time

"The companies would love to know what we might do," Loevinger told reporters, "but I think it is inappropriate for us to talk about it at this time."

Republicans in Congress, taking note of Kennedy's nationally televised news conference blast Wednesday, said the President was "looking in the wrong place for the basic cause of inflation."

The Senate-House Republican leaders said in a statement that the big danger of inflation lies in Democratic spending, not higher steel prices.

"Apparently everybody is supposed to make sacrifices except the New Frontier spenders," said the statement read by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader.

Wilkes-Barre Appeals Order

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state Superior Court office reported Thursday it has received an appeal by the city of Wilkes-Barre against state orders that it construct sewage disposal facilities.

The appeal was remitted to the Superior Court from the Supreme Court, where it was not accepted on grounds of legal technicalities.

The city is appealing from a decision of the commonwealth court in Harrisburg which upheld an order of the state Sanitary Water Board directing Wilkes-Barre to proceed with a program to halt pollution of the North Branch of the Susquehanna River.

The city has contended that subsidence prevalent in the mining country would endanger any sewerage system of the type it has been ordered to develop.

Court attaches here said that in the absence of any emergency advancement on the calendar, the case will come up for argument at the superior court's session in Harrisburg March 11, 1963.

Hahn predicted 1962 sales of 230,000 vehicles compared with 203,863 last year.

Hanna received a participation award certificate and a plaque carrying the Optimist creed.

In order to retrieve Mayan artifacts, divers grope through mud and silt 10 to 30 feet deep in a well at Yucatan.

Dear Mary Carter:

When he was courting me, my husband always talked about the big, new house we'd have if I'd marry him. It had tall white columns out on the front veranda, and acres and acres of beautifully landscaped grounds. My, it was pretty the way he went on about it! Then we got married and moved into this broken-down old shack near the river, made out of weather-beaten boards, with mildew all over them.

What I'm wondering is, how much longer should I wait for that big house Alfred promised me? We've been married now for going on 52 years.

Mrs. A. R. F.

Dear Mrs. A. R. F.:

Have patience, my dear! Some men are naturally slow starters, and apparently Alfred is one of these.

In the meantime, though, even that miserable shack you've been (ugh!) living in for 52 years can be made to look like new. Gracious Living?

Newspapers have reported for years that tenants moving into spanking new public housing projects all to often turn them into slums differing only superficially from the slum homes they left.

Now the Federal Government, having helped build half a million public housing units, is beginning to worry about the problem, too. When the Government begins to worry about a problem it usually means a new bureau and new expense, and this time the usual pattern is followed.

Mrs. Marie McGuire, Commissioner of the Public Housing Administration, suggests that it is up to the Government to teach people how to live. Housewives who move into public housing projects would be taught how to clean and cook, the Government would provide marriage clinics to probe into the deepest intimacies of family life, and instruction would be given in how to spend pop's paycheck — among other things.

This would make the tenants of public housing projects wards of the Government to an extent that even the Indians never were.

And, we suppose, if there's any sign that the program is meeting with a modicum of success, we can expect these Federal directors of family life to get around to all the rest of us.

Marriage often has been referred to as an institution, but now it's likely to become a Federal institution — like Alcatraz or Form 1040.

Uniting Welfare Services

Should Pennsylvania unify its basic public welfare services?

As an abstract proposition, it sounds reasonable. When dramatized in concrete, human terms, it carries a special urgency. That showed up in last week's hearings of the State and Local Welfare Commission when two of the testifying organizations got specific on the effects of the present, fragmented welfare program.

Here is an illustration, called "typical," cited by Family and Children's Service of Harrisburg.

"A family is reported for neglect of children to the County Child Care Service. Investigation reveals a need for Public Assistance. A referral is made to the Department of Public Assistance, but the initial application is delayed for an available appointment. Appointment is scheduled, but family runs out of food. Child Care Service does not administer assistance grants, so refers to a private agency. In this way three different agencies, all separately administered and with individual procedures, are involved for special needs, but no one agency is responsible for the integration of all the special needs and the on-going plan of treatment for the family."

And there is a situation cited by the Central Pennsylvania Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers: "An aged man's eligibility for Old Age Assistance was determined by the County Board of Assistance, but when he became too feeble to live with his widowed daughter, another agency, the County Institution District, looked into his eligibility for admission to the county home. The old man's daughter received Aid to Dependent Children from the State for her young children. When she entered the hospital for surgery, there was no one to care for them, and they were placed in foster homes by the Child Welfare Bureau of the County Institution District. One of the youngsters was seriously retarded — a crib case — and, with the mother's agreement, the Child Welfare Bureau applied for his admission to a State school operated by the same department which issued the Aid to Dependent Children checks. Only two agencies were involved, but there were four applications, four records, four investigations — all concerned with a single family."

These two organizations, along with most other people close to the welfare scene who testified, are strongly in favor of drawing welfare services together into a coordinated system. They are on solid ground. As long as present welfare conditions continue, everyone concerned will be shortchanged, from the people who need help to the people who pay for it — each and every taxpayer.

Gold

On December 31, 1952, the gold reserve of the United States was $23,200,000,000; the gold reserve of all other countries outside of the Soviet Union was $13,000,000,000. The gold reserve of the United States made the American dollar the most acceptable currency in the world. Most Western currencies were pegged to the dollar and the United States was regarded as the leading nation on Earth.

Since the introduction of the Marshall Plan and a series of give-aways, the United States found itself at the end of 1961 with a gold reserve of only $16,900,000,000 and the gold holdings of the other Western countries were $23,600,000,000.

The American dollar is no longer as favored as it was formerly and the nation's economic and political leadership is being violently challenged all over the world.

In addition, Soviet Russia has been pouring gold into the London, Amsterdam and Zurich markets and this gives the impression that Soviet Russia has considerable gold.

Foreign holdings of dollars may be exchanged for gold; American holdings of dollars may not be exchanged for gold. This, of course, encourages speculators to hold American dollars abroad, particularly in Switzerland.

The banks act as agents but will not disclose who their principals are. There are lawyers in Switzerland who have numerous American clients. The main business of these lawyers is to handle American deposits in that country.

The United States does not own enough gold to take care of its obligations. It owns not quite $17,000,000,000 of gold, but $11,500,000,000 of that amount must be used to support the American dollar without regard to other obligations.

What is sound money? It is money that is accepted in return for goods, services, labor, or earnings. The acceptability can be measured absolutely by the yardstick of value. In a word, if in a store $1 will buy one dozen oranges one day but only half a dozen the next day and there is a plentiful supply of oranges, it can only mean that the dollar is worth half as much.

If for a century a postage stamp in general circulation for first class mail costs two cents, and is then raised to four cents, and again to five cents, for a reduced service, then either the currency is worth less, the management inadequate or the labor costs have risen to meet the reduced value of money.

Many psychological as well as economic and political factors enter into foreign exchange. For instance, the Common Market not only permits but encourages cartels; American companies are forbidden to join cartels within the United States but their subsidiaries in foreign countries may join cartels in those countries. This can justify the depositing of American capital abroad and the export of jobs.

It hardly makes sense giving an early warning, particularly when the country shows every evidence of prosperity. Nevertheless, this is the time to talk up and this is the time for the President and Congress to take urgent and immediate steps to protect the value of the American economy and particularly the American dollar.

In the Depression of 1929, we waited too long. That Depression started in 1921 and became world-wide. The few prophets who gave warning in 1928 and early in 1929, were laughed at. When the stock market finally cracked and the banks were caught over-extended, particularly in mortgages, it was really too late to do much and the Depression, which ended its acute phase in 1932, ran on chronically until 1938 when the economy was rescued by war.

The sociological effects of that Depression are still taking their toll in national consciousness and morality. On the economic side, our government accepted the confusions of Keynesian economics under which we now still live because it is all that those under 50 were taught.

The cost to this country is in efficiency, in know-how and in the marketability of American goods. Private enterprise solves this problem by exporting jobs, but the worker cannot export himself or force American capital to stay at home.

The result is what is called a flight of capital. By that is meant that American dollars are sent abroad, are there probably exchanged for local currencies; are invested in local industries and American unemployment increases.

The Kennedy Administration is apparently conscious of the peril but, thus far, there is no evidence that a curative program has been made ready. Time's a-wasting.

Improving Teaching Methods

By Arthur M. Felker

(ED NOTE: Three months ago Arthur M. Felker retired as Snyder County Superintendent of Schools after 41 years in the education field. Syndicated columnist Mason Denison asked Mr. Felker to express his views on the much bandied about and controversial "education problem" as it exists today — not from the standpoint of a noted national or state authority but from that of a veteran educator at the "grass roots" level. The Felker series this week comprises this "grass roots" commentary.)

By Arthur M. Felker
Harrisburg — In yesterday's column, I showed how improvement in a simple instructional practice could bring about more effective learning in the classroom. Literally scores of present classroom practices in our schools can be similarly improved if we have efficient leadership in the instructional field. The question then arises: Is it enough to improve classroom practices or methods when the organization of instruction is faulty?

Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson tied for first place in the Masters Tournament. The men had a two under par for the course thus far.

Clayton Heller was elected a school director in Delaware Water Gap.

The average high school recitation section contains from 25-35 pupils. A single teacher may meet with five or six of these sections each day. Possibly in one day he may lecture to all of the sections on the same subject. Is it surprising, if near the end of the day he becomes tired and flat? Could the same work not have been done in a shorter time and as well or better if he could have met the combined sections for one period in one large room?

Now let us suppose that on the next day this same teacher decides to use the discussion method in all of his sections. He will find then that the sections of 25-35 pupils are too large to obtain effective results and he will feel more or less frustrated. We should not wonder at the result because research has shown that a group of from 12-15 is the right size for effective discussion.

Let us suppose that this teacher is a science instructor. In one of his sections the next day he discovers that one of the pupils needs to work out an experiment in order to fully understand a scientific principle which is under consideration. But at the time, because of the way the instructional program is organized, no laboratory facilities for the use of this person are available.

If high school facilities and instructional programs could be devised to utilize effectively recent psychological findings about the way learning takes place we could, without doubt, obtain better educational results. The "Trump Plan" is designed to do this very thing.

The report of The Commission On The Experimental Study Of The Utilization Of The Staff Of The Secondary School was made to the National Association Of Secondary School Principals at its Convention in 1959. Officially known as "Images Of The Future" this report has been popularly called the "Trump Plan" because the chairman of the Commission was Dr. J. Lloyd Trump, Professor of Education at the University of Illinois.

The "Plan" would substitute three groups of activities for the typical grouping of 25-35 pupils in the high school: (1) those properly carried on in a group of 100 or more pupils; (2) discussion to be carried on in groups of 12-15 and, (3) individual study to be carried on alone or with one or two others.

The physical plant of the present high school would be changed to accommodate the activities of these three groups. There would be: (a) a number of large rooms to take care of 100 or more pupils; (b) value of services performed; (c) time devoted to work. The most capable individuals would be used for the most important tasks, for longer periods and at higher pay.

The seemingly important point about the proposal is that it does provide a high school program to implement the latest psychological discoveries about learning. Parts of the "Plan" are in operation experimentally in many different schools. A new school in the Chicago area has been designed specifically for the "Trump Plan" and has been operating since September, 1961.

A fellow called up the other day, asking if we knew of anyone going to California. He said, "I'd like to grab a ride to Los Angeles."

We couldn't think of anyone going to the West Coast at the moment and advised the other end of the line so.

Perhaps he just wanted conversation. And perhaps he was lonely in his self-described paybooth on Route 611. Anyway it was a sad tale he unfolded. At least from his angle.

It seems this was the tenth dime of 10 he was using to make his pitch to this department. Also he had to be in "LA" by the 17th of April.

He was willing to help drive to the coast. Only he didn't have a driver's license. Nor could he drive. This left him available only for passenger service.

If by chance, an offer came, the ride-seeker had to travel the southern route. Seems he had an aunt in Albuquerque, New Mexico, he hadn't seen in 20 years. On second thought he didn't know if she was alive yet. But it would be worth the try he thought.

Another requisite of the Stroudsburg to Los Angeles traveler was that his "benefactor" must have at least $500 in the pocket. A self-picked diet allowed only the choicest of foods for consumption and they are only purchased at spots for the elite.

"I'm not unreasonable," he asked. "Or am I," he answered.

He went on, "I'd make a good companion. I can talk, sing, play a jew's harp, and be a good lookout for road signs."

"What I can't do is lift heavy things, fix flats because of tender hands, or stay awake."

There was one important thing he forgot to mention. He can't get a ride either!!!

Goulart Active In Cuban Prisoner Deal

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington—Brazil's President Joao Goulart played an intriguing role in influencing Fidel Castro not to execute any of the 1,179 prisoners seized in the ill-fated Cuban invasion.

In the midst of the prisoner's "treason" trial last week, President Goulart sent an emergency appeal from Washington urging Castro to spare the lives of these captured invaders.

He informed Castro through Brazil's embassy in Havana that Richard Goodwin, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Latin American Affairs, had asked him to intervene in behalf of the prisoners and relay President Kennedy's "thinking" to him.

According to Goulart's private message, Goodwin told him that the execution of the prisoners would touch off such a storm of public protest in the U.S. that President Kennedy would have no other choice than to take drastic new action against Castro's Cuban regime.

President Goulart quoted Goodwin as saying that President Kennedy would continue to follow a policy of strict "non-intervention" in Cuba's internal affairs if Castro spared the lives of the prisoners.

In his message, the young

Brazilian President said he believed Goodwin was talking for the President. Also, he cautioned Castro that any new blood-letting would greatly hamper his own diplomatic efforts to get other Latin American countries and the U.S. to adopt a policy of "peaceful co-existence" with Cuba and renew their diplomatic and trade ties.

Castro's reply to President Goulart's message came earlier this week when his military tribunal announced that the prisoners were being sentenced to 30-year prison terms but would be freed on payment of ransom totaling $62 million.

The free-wheeling Goodwin, who originally proposed the "tractors-for prisoners" exchange, is now working with Cuban refugee leaders to raise the new ransom Castro is seeking.

Already, he has passed the word that any corporation contributing to the ransoming of individual prisoners will be able to deduct this amount on their income tax returns.

A Strange Policy—President Goulart first proposed his policy of "peaceful co-existence" with Castro in a speech last January in Brazil. Foreign Minister Dantas tried unsuccessfully to sell this approach at the Punta del Este conference when the Organization of American States condemned Castro for his ties with the Communist world.

In his White House meeting with President Kennedy, President Goulart again revived his Cuban proposal. President Kennedy rejected it, stating that the U.S. would not consider renewing its ties with Cuba until Castro makes a clear break with the Sino-Soviet bloc.

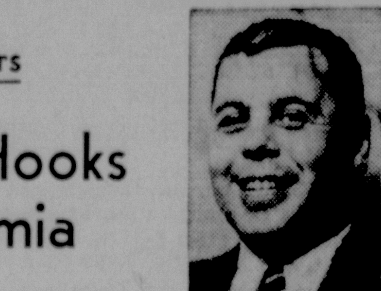

President Kennedy got nowhere in his efforts to get the Brazilian President to break diplomatic and trade relations with Castro. Instead, President Goulart insisted Brazil was correct in keeping these contacts with Cuba.

In trade, Brazil is actually increasing its exports to Cuba. Since the OAS condemned Castro last January, Brazil has sold Cuba a steady stream of replacement parts for jeeps and trucks, electrical goods, sugar mill parts, railroad equipment and distillery equipment.

U.S. experts regard the sugar mill parts the most strategic equipment that can be sold to Cuba at this time. These parts are needed to repair equipment damaged by the Cuban underground. These freedom fighters are now trying to wreck Castro's economy by destroying his No. 1 industry.

Brazil is purchasing Cuba's poorest grade of sugar for feed despite the fact that she has requested a higher sugar quota from the U.S. to sell her excess sugar.

Signs Of The Times—Castro is sending Cuban pilots to Communist China. The Defense Intelligence Agency is circulating a report that 25 Cuban pilots have shown up in Peiping to train in Soviet-built MIG-19s. Cuba now has 75 MIG fighters. The effects of the undeclared war in South Vietnam are being felt by the two U.S. Army divisions now guarding the truce line separating Korea and Communist North Korea. Several hundred officers and enlisted men have been pulled out of the First Cavalry and Seventh Infantry advisers. None of these crack intelligence specialists and platoon leaders have been replaced with troops from the U.S. . . . A U.S. draft plan for trade stability for underdeveloped nations is being circulated among Western allies. It would set up a $1.8 billion kitty for short-term credits to low-income countries to tide them over when their export earnings are hurt by sharp shifts in the markets for their basic commodities. . . . One of the little known but key Communists in Cuba is Fabio Gohart. In Cuba since 1923, Gohart edits the "Cuban Socialist." He is expected to be given a new position in the Castro regime.

Inside You And Yours

Barefoot, Hooks And Anemia

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

June had hoped to come back engaged or pinned; instead she was hooked!

The feel of grass under bare feet had thrilled her that weekend at Jim's college down South.

But hookworm was prevalent in these fields. Millions of eggs incubated in the warm tropical soil. Baring her sole had made her vulnerable.

Baby hookworms pierce the skin. They quickly disappear into the blood stream to be whisked along. At the lungs they crawl out of blood vessels and up the air passage—just high enough to spill over into the esophagus.

You may cough up a little blood for a day or so.

Invade Intestines

Meanwhile, the worms head straight for the intestine and dig sharp hooks into the lining to change into tiny bloodsuckers. Each drinks up to 4 drops a day. A thousand could drain a pint of blood each week!

As your blood thins, your skin turns pale and yellowish. Sluggish sweat glands leave your skin dry and itchy. Your heart strains, as the body demands more and more thinned-out blood. Eventually, you can barely drag yourself around.

Lack of iron and other minerals may double your appetite. Children may nibble paint or eat dirt.

Wriggling worms trigger vague tummy aches and gripping cramps. One day you're stopped up; the next, rivers come gushing out.

It's Curable

Hookworm can be cured—often with one single dose of medicine. A re-check a few weeks later insures against stragglers. You'll probably need iron and B & C vitamins to help rebuild that lost blood.

Shoes are strong armor against hookworms, providing they're on your feet! Worms can't pierce leather and rubber soles.

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Mr. Lyon muffed the big news of the visit to that barber shop. Probably the only one in the world with a manicurist who blushes.

Snydersville Auctioneer 62 Years, Blacksmith 56

By Jim Shafer
Daily Record Reporter
SNYDERSVILLE — Auctioneer- ing for 62 years and working as a blacksmith for 56 years of that period has kept Joseph G. Starnier a busy man and in the best of health. He was 72 years old in February and, "Still going strong," he said.

"I guess the auctioneer bug bit me when I was eight or nine years old. I asked my father to take me to an auction sale where Hill-Meadow Stables is now lo- cated."

"He did not want to but my mother talked him in to taking me. When we came back home, in Beaver Valley I got up on the kitchen chair and sold everything in the kitchen to my mother, dad and two brothers," he concluded.

At the age of 10 Joe "cried" his first sale. His grandfather, who lived in a log cabin near Snydersville, decided to have a sale. He said, "Go get Joe let him 'cry' it the experience will be good for him."

"Joe did come and 'cried' the entire sale without help from any- one."

He said, I cried that sale and many more since then. My late wife once told me I had a cast iron throat and leather lungs."

As he looked back through the years Starnier recalled, "I don't know how many sales I've had but like anything else, there are some that stand out more than others."

He continued, "I called the old fairgrounds in Stroudsburg sale one day and had it up to $30,000. But then the owners pulled it off the market. There was a man from Pen Argyl who came to many of my sales and when he walked on the sale bidding really began."

"He used to stick his thumb in his shirt. That was the sign to keep going until he took it out. When he dropped his hand that was his last bid. He was there the day I was selling the fair- grounds," he added.

Starnier spoke of sales and his work as a blacksmith at great length. The two careers fitted hand in hand.

"He was crying sales and learning the trade of a smithy, both of which he does today. His auc- tioneering career has slackened off but the blacksmithing is a daily chore at the Stroudsburg Engine Works."

Starnier recalled once that he was having a hard time selling a horse. After several minutes and bids he noticed the horse needed new shoes. He stopped the sale and said, "This horse needs new shoes. Well to the per on that buys him I'll come and shoe him for free." The bids picked up and in five minutes he sold the horse.

Helped Smithy Work
This statement also helped in his blacksmith work. "Many peo- ple did not know I shod horses and they came to me and asked me to come to their place to put new shoes on hor-es."

"Why, I traveled through Mon- roe, Northampton, Carbon, Pike, Wayne and Lackawanna counties shoeing horses, crying sales, and making other repairs around a farm that only a smith could do."

His busiest as an auctioneer was the six weeks following the death of Reeder Posten. "The day Reeder died people called me to cry their sales—ones already as- signed to him. I didn't have a free day for six weeks," he said.

Working with Pete Bonser in Kel- lersville. It was Bonser who gave him a bell to use at sales. The bell today is a part of the auc- tioneering history and not used by the modern day auctioneers.

He still has the old bell, its cracked now and the ring is not true. But it can be heard with- out too much trouble.

After operating a blacksmith shop in Kellersville for three years he went to work for the Atlas-Portland Cement Co., and stayed with the company for 25 years.

Stopped Shoeing In '55
Starnier stopping shoeing horses in 1955. His wife was on her death bed and she told him, "Joe you don't have to do that kind of work. You come home smelling to high heaven." He hasn't shod a horse since then except for a horse owned by his son.

When he first began as an auc- tioneer he received $3 a sale. Later the price was increased to $5 and now the auctioneer works on a commission basis.

Starnier is 72 years old, and hale and hearty. He has no plans of retiring from the auctioneer business, or the blacksmith trade.

CHARLEEN Frehulfer, a run- ner-up in last year's competition, yesterday announced that she will enter the eighth annual Miss Pocono Mountains Pageant, to be held May 8 at the Sherman Theater.

Miss Frehulfer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frehulfer of Lehighton, is a freshman at East Stroudsburg State College, major- ing in physical education.

A blonde, she is five feet four inches tall, weighs 115 pounds and measures 36-24-36. She has blue eyes and a fair complexion.

An honor graduate of Jim Thorpe High School, she was a squad, captain of the girls' gym team, student director of the high school band and earned a chair as fistful in county, district and state bands.

For two years she attended dis- trict and state choruses and was a member of the National Honor Society. She received a recom- mendation from the National Mer- it Scholarship Board and was chosen "Typical American Girl" by the Jim Thorpe Women's Club.

At ESSC, she is a member of the band and belongs to local and state branches of the Penn- sylvania Health and Physical Education Assn.

Miss Carbon County
She was Miss Carbon County of 1960. Her talents include dancing, piano playing, baton twirling and singing and she will sing in the pageant here.

Her hobbies are swimming, dancing, singing and all outdoor sports. She is registered as a hunter's safety instructor and certified by the National Rifle Commission.

Single young women between the ages of 18 and 25 who desire to enter the competition may do so by contacting members of the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn., sponsor of the local contest.

Whiting Expected To Be Reinstated

An ORDER is expected to be signed this week reinstating Howell T. Whiting, 66, of Mt. Pocono in his $7,000 a year post as foreman at Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot.

Whiting was dismissed from the post in February, 1961, when he and four others were indicted by a Federal Court grand jury on charges of stealing govern- ment property from the depot and conspiracy.

Whiting was cleared last month by a Federal Court jury in Scranton of the charges.

It was understood that the de- pot's grievance committee de- cided Wednesday to reinstate Whiting and that the order re- quires only the signature of Col. Lester W. Kale, depot command- ing officer.

Appears Before Grievance Unit
Whiting and his attorney, E. I. win Krawitz of Stroudsburg, ap- peared before the grievance committee earlier in the week.

The government contended at the hearing that, in addition to the indictment against Whiting, he was guilty of stealing lum- ber and damage from the post.

Whiting did not testify but Krawitz read a statement in which he pointed out that the jury's verdict cleared Whiting as far as the indictment was concerned and that testimony of witnesses at the trial showed that Whiting was not involved in any thefts.

If the committee's decision is approved by Kale, Whiting will be eligible for 14 months back pay. He was a foreman in the off-loading section of return ma- terial.

Dividend Payments

By William A. Doyle

Q. J. I. Case Co. second preferred stock is now trading at less than $3 a share. This stock has an annual dividend rate of 4.5 cents a share. Is it possible that, if I buy 100 shares of this stock (at a cost of less than $300) I would receive $45.50 a year in dividends?

A. It might be possible, at some future date. But you won't get that dividend now. J. I. Case is not paying any dividends on any of its stocks just now.

This company has three classes of stock outstanding. The "senior equity issue" is cumulative preferred stock, with a 4.5-cent annual dividend rate. Last in line is the common stock.

No dividend has been paid on the common stock since 1954. The dividend payments normally due on the two preferred stock issues are skipped, beginning last year.

Because the dividends on the two preferred stock issues are cumulative, the "arrears" in preferred dividends payments must be made up, before any dividends can be paid on the common stock.

However, J. I. Case has quite a bit of indebtedness. Under the terms of its bank loan, no dividends can be paid without the consent of a bank committee.

The company operated at a big loss in 1960 and 1961. There have been some major changes in the operation of this farm equipment manufacturing corporation recently, since new top management moved in.

Things could perk up, over the long haul. But the general opinion seems to be that J. I. Case can't be turned into a big profit-maker in a hurry. This is one of those cases where even preferred stock must be counted as an outright risk situation.

Q. I recently sold some bonds at 100 1/4 ($1,007.50 for each $1,000 par value bond) through my broker, who handled the transaction on the New York Stock Exchange. The bonds all mature in less than five years. The broker charged me commissions of $2.50 a bond for some and $1.25 for some others. I have received a lot of conflicting information on what the commission should be. Can you straighten me out?

A. The "minimum commissions" charged by brokerage firms who are members of the New York Stock Exchange for buying or selling bonds on that exchange for non-members (customers, such as you and I) are as follows:

For each $1,000 par value bond selling at less than $10, the "minimum commission" is 75 cents; at $10 and above but under $100, the charge goes up to $1.25, and at $100 and higher it becomes $2.50.

However, on bonds which are due to mature in not less than six months and not more than 12 months and which are selling at not less than $90 and not more than $100 per $1,000 par value, the minimum commission becomes $1.25 for each bond. This is the rule that covers your case.

Besides these rules, there are certain others—calling for minimum commissions on certain

A SMARTLY STYLED lavatory complete with a single lever faucet combines beauty and function in the modern bathroom. Providing just the right amount of water at the temperature you want, this one-hand control is easily operated by all members of the family.

Do Your Own Aluminum Sculpturing

IF YOU have a pair of scissors and a piece of aluminum you can now "make like an artistic tinsmith" in very short order. If you have a pair of tin snips and a large tin can, you can make these handsome primitives at no cost. You don't have to be artistically inclined, or adept with tools, to turn out these intriguing primitives in no time at all.

Sheet aluminum, copper or tin provides the necessary material. The only tools required are a hammer, a pair of tin snips and pliers. If you decide to buy tin snips, buy a good pair because you'll find a lot of use for them. Besides saving your household scissors, tin snips are handy to have around the house.

There's a world of good material going to waste in large tomato juice cans. By using the pattern offered below and others now available, you can transform cans into handsome primitives. If your son is a cub scout or if you want to help raise money for a church, make up a quantity of these wall decorations and watch the customers come by.

The pattern offers a full size template. Simply trace the pattern on any metal, cut with tin snips, paint with decorator's flat black and "voila," you become an artist, designer, metal worker and expert craftsman in the eyes of family and friends.

Vanity Lavatory Is Convenient

DARLING of the modern bathroom is the countertop lavatory. Trim-looking combinations of the fixture and storage space, vanity lavatories come in the same attractive colors as other plumbing fixtures, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

A vanity lavatory is desirable in the bathroom, the first floor powder room, and as a separate fixture in the bedroom. It provides the convenience of a dressing table and stylish lavatory all in one.

Tip On Mildew When Repainting

IF mildew forms on the enameled walls of your kitchen or bath, here's what to do. Wash the walls with a solution of sodium hypochlorite made by adding one and one half cups of a household bleach such as Chlorox or Purex to a gallon of water.

Designers Direct Talents At Beauty, Convenience

TOP industrial designers have directed their talents toward plumbing fixtures to make them more of an attractive addition to the home than ever before. This year's fixtures offer a great variety of beautiful design with many added convenience features that will help the housewife make her bathroom as pleasing to the eye as the rest of her home.

Fixtures styling today leans toward clean, uncluttered lines. Having lost their clinical, functional look, new fixtures create an impression of comfort and elegance. In doing so, they satisfy two of the housewife's primary requirements. First, they lend themselves to stylish decorative schemes. This is especially important today, for homeowners are giving bathroom decoration the same attention they lavish on the living room, bedroom, kitchen, recreation room and patio. Today's fixtures are designed to suit particular buyers' tastes perfectly.

Color is increasingly a factor in choice of bathroom fixtures. The Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau reports that pink is the undisputed leader in popularity. Following in order are light blue, light green, tan, yellow and black. White, it's interesting to note still accounts for about half of sales all over the country.

Variety Of Sizes
Fixtures also come in a wider variety of sizes and shapes today. This makes sense to the housewife who wants even a small bathroom to be comfortable, but it also satisfies those who are modernizing roomy older bathrooms.

The whole family will enjoy the convenience features of today's fixtures. They range all the way from nonskid treads in bathtubs to off-the-floor mountings for water closets, a feature that can save valuable floor space. Modern fixtures also offer many mechanical advances that make them the finest ever available.

Lavatories perhaps more than the other fixtures lend themselves to high styling. They're available today to fit any type of decoration.

whether it's modern or period.

A major trend in lavatory design is toward cabinet units. These popular vanity lavatories double as dressing tables with the convenience of hot and cold water. And if two lavatories are installed side by side, which many families insist upon, the unit has double usefulness. Vanties are also convenient in a bedroom, keeping the bathroom free because the ladies of the house do their grooming elsewhere.

More Conventional Type
A more conventional type of lavatory has attractive concave front and stands on wrought-iron legs. It's typical of the modern lavatory that has large flat areas for all the shaving equipment, cosmetics and other items kept in the bathroom. Many lavatories also have shelf backs to provide this handy space.

Most lavatories today, have anti-splash rims, which run around the entire perimeter of the bowl, and concealed over-flow drains.

Single-lever faucets are becoming increasingly popular. They make control of tempered water extremely simple, and the amount of flow is also easily controlled. But all types of faucets and drains—called fittings—are getting greater attention in design. One manufacturer who offers a lavatory with an off-center bowl has rearranged the conventional hot and cold water control placement by putting them both to the right of the faucet itself. Stainless steel lavatories are growing in popularity for bathroom use.

Manufacturers are now offering more small lavatories to fit into odd spaces. Today, in fact, new and compact bathroom fixtures can be combined to fit into a 5-by-6-foot space and still provide a full bathroom. A half bath, or powder room, can fit into an area only 3 x 5 feet.

Modern bathtubs also reflect the influence of top-flight industrial designers. They come in a surprising variety of sizes and shapes to meet almost any space requirement.

Some new bathtubs are extremely compact. They have roomy inside dimensions, yet they take up a minimum of space. One model, called a receptor bathtub, provides a shower-tub combination in an area just a little more than a yard square—and it has a built-in corner seat.

Many bathtub manufacturers provide an additional safety feature that provides a firm grip on the tub when the bather gets in or out. One manufacturer treats his tubs with a silicone coating that looks and feels like suede. It's comfortable to sit on, easy to clean and long wearing, and it requires twice the force needed to cause slipping than does a standard enameled surface.

Tips On Painting

YOU'LL generally get better results when enamelling furniture if you can work on a horizontal surface. Where the piece is small enough, keep turning it so that the side you work on is horizontal, waiting, of course, until the side on which it rests is dry.

The House Of The Week

Popularly Styled Ranch Has Resale Value

By JULES LOH

AT THE fifth National Congress for Better Living held recently in Washington the unprecedented mobility of American society came in for lengthy discussion because of the equally unprecedented problems it creates for homeowners.Not too surprising was the fact that one-third of the delegates to the Congress had moved during the past year, nor even that the majority expected to move at least every five years.What it all adds up to was best summed up in this comment taken from the Congress report:"Delegates feel strongly about the resale value (of their homes) because they don't really expect to stay in the same house for many years."How do you tell whether a house has good resale value?
Aside from considerations of neighborhood, zoning laws, availability of schools, service facilities and so forth, there are two basic questions you should ask about the house itself:

1. Will it require excessive maintenance?
2. Will its design retain its popularity?

This attractive one-story home, designed by architect Lester Cohen as J-14 in the House of the Week series, answers both questions affirmatively and without hesitation.
Cohen planned it that way.To begin with, it is in the category which year after year is in greatest demand throughout the nation — a three-bedroom ranch of moderate size (and price) with two bathrooms, attached garage, separate dining room, large kitchen, and plenty of closet, cabinet and storage space.Moreover, the house is completely devoid of frills or fancy ornamentation that add much to price but little to resale value and usually are costly to maintain. This house instead has a quiet, uncluttered exterior with a charming covered porch, andLASTING STYLE—This lovely three-bedroom ranch was designed with an eye to the future. Its uncluttered exterior and well-ordered floor plan assure ease ofa neat and well-ordered interior with no wasted space.It contains 1,370 square feet of living area, not counting the garage and utility room, in dimensions of 73 feet wide by 33 feet, four inches deep, and has a full basement plus storage space in the attic which is reached from the bedroom hall.Additional Details
The house is an extremely livable one, a fact that adds to its resale value as well as assuring lasting comfort for the family that might choose to remain in it indefinitely. The two, in fact, go together.For example, the kitchen area —with utility-laundry room and basement steps handy, direct access to the garage, and even a rear coat closet for rainy day gear—not only is a well planned housekeeping zone but at the same time offers the space and charm for informal family snacks and icebox raids. The big central chimney that serves the living room fireplace also provides for an indoor barbecue in the kitchen, attractively set in a brick wall.The fireplace, of course, is the main eye-catcher in the living room, and is complemented by a large bow window on the opposite wall. This broad glass area, incidentally, not only is shaded by the porch but also by a large roof overhang. AnotherFUNCTIONAL CHARM—Artist's conception shows the view from the dinetto area of the kitchen. The indoor barbecue, placed attractively in a brick wall, is served by the same chimney that provides for the living room fireplace. At right is the door to the dining room.advantage of the living room is that it is dead-end. That is, the only reason for entering it is to stay there — it doesn't double as a nuisance passage to another room.A broad roof overhang in the rear also shades the glass wall in the dining room. The rear terrace could easily be closedin to make a sun room if the owner should want it.The bedroom wing, well isolated from the entertaining area by foyer, center hall and dining room, contains a master bedroom of the type usually reserved for more pretentious homes.In addition to two sets of double closets, it has a dressing alcove with a vanity and another closet, a full bath, and fine wall space. Another nifty extra is the hat closet next to the door — making a total of no less than six closets in this room. That's more than many three-bedroom homes have all told.

J-14 STATISTICS

story house with two full ing room, center hall and feet of habitable space not counting garage and utility-laundry room. Dimensions

Keep The Gloss

DON'T use cleansers for washing glossy enamelled surfaces unless you want to remove the gloss.
Instead, use a detergent solution or one of the products designed for washing painted surfaces without dulling the gloss. Start at the bottom of the wall or woodwork and wash upwards.Select Paints Like FashionsPAINT colors should be selected like fashion colors to complement the coloring of the lady of the house. Hues that provide a good background for a blonde include blue, pink, copper, platinum gray, yellow, olive, beige and tan.None of these colors is particularly flattering to a redhead, who will look her best when the walls are painted in green-blue, red-died browns, mauve, sea-green, olive green, cocoa or yellow.Whatever color you select, modern, odorless quick-drying paints are easy to apply, and you can provide an entirely new background for yourself at a cost of only $10 for quality paint in the average room.

Use Gloss

IF you are planning to enamel furniture, it's better to use a semi-gloss or gloss enamel than a flat wall enamel or paint. The

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

And now it was really over — the last toast had been proposed in champagne at the California Motel in Pisa. It had been a long and exciting day for all of us and yet we said goodbye reluctantly because, like shipboard acquaintances or fellow delegates at a convention, we had within the course of that day become friends of long standing.

Wherefore, it was a little sheepishly that we greeted each other fifteen minutes later as we all filtered into the television lounge of the Albergo Duomo to watch the 11 o'clock news, hoping to see ourselves as others saw us for once.

It was a vain hope. The news came from Milan and Bologna, from Rome and Algiers, from Washington and Geneva, but not from Pisa that night. (When we got back to Rome, Shirley's maid gave us a blow by blow account of the telecast which was featured at length on Sunday and her reenactment of how I had mimed across and how 'sweet' I smiled and how my hat looked had us all in stitches.)

Even after the television was over, we lingered talking shop with bearded Kurt Kilinger of the German News Agency, and Anna Brady of the Baltimore Sun, no longer personages but reporters on a lark, recalling with laughter the boobies we had made in our time.

And we all met again at breakfast, sharing Italian newspapers in which the Rustichello was prominently featured, pointing out each other's pictures and shaking hands all around again.

You know — nothing is really ever over — not completely. Leaving the hotel with our roses, our books, our gifts, our luggage — and the famous hatbox, we drove again through the Square of Miracles, looking back through the rear window to watch the Leaning Tower for the last time.

The last time for at least the 20 minutes it took us to drive to the outskirts of Pisa and discover we'd left the camera back at the hotel and to tie ourselves back to get it. So once again we said goodbye to the Tower and the famous bridge where the medieval games are still held, to the sweep of the Romanesque buildings reflected in the Arno, to the tower at the sea gate and yearned back yet again to see the city like a dream against its encircling mountains.

But somehow I couldn't feel sad, I had said goodbye to Pisa once before — and look what happened! Someday, somehow I shall see it again — if only in dreams and unforgettable memories. Arrivederci, Pisa.

NOW — Mr. and Mrs. Emory Anglemire cut the cake which marked their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Appenzell.

Democratic Convention Here In June

The 1962 Convention of the Pennsylvania Federation of Democratic Women, which will be held June 4, 5 and 6 at Tamiment in the Poconos is the subject of the feature article in the quarterly issue of their official publication, "The Survey".

Pointing out that the convention is usually held in big cities, the article calls attention to the facilities available at the resort and the attraction of a resort convention. It also lists the four-county committees in charge of plans.

Mrs. Willetta M. Rogalski, Stroudsburg, is convention chairman with the following co-chairmen: Miss Margaret Stansberry, Carbon, Mrs. Anna Giles, Wayne; Mrs. Millie Michelle, Pike; and Mrs. Clara Friedman and Mrs. Barbara Nabors of Monroe, Mrs. Nabors is secretary and Mrs. Charlotte Westbrook, also of Stroudsburg, is treasurer.

Publicity is in the hands of Mrs. J. Joseph McCluskey and Mrs. Gloria Smith, Monroe, and Mrs. Ethel Shumacher, Pike.

Serving as hostesses are Democratic women from Monroe, Pike, Wayne and Carbon.

Local committees which have completed plans for the convention include: Pocono, Clara Friedman, Lillian Price, Edie Kaczak, Amy Rainey and Katherine Clouse; Ads — Helen Brush, Isabelle Kleinert, Betty Peckman and Mrs. Van D. Yetter; Registration, Grace Palmer and Olive Reidmiller; Flowers, Mrs. George Crane and Mrs. Lida Gregory; Hostesses, Mrs. Isabelle Kleinert, Miss Helen Wolfinger and Mrs. Helen Maguire; Entertainment, Clara Friedman and Kathryn Edwards.

If you cut pared potatoes and carrots into even small cubes, you can cook them together in boiling water; they'll get done in the same length of time.

New Age Groups Being Set Up For Girl Scouts

A new age pattern is being set up by the national Girl Scout organization with four instead of three age-levels beginning in September 1963. Three representatives from the Scranton-Pocono Girl Scout Council will attend the regional meeting when the change will be discussed.

Since 1938, the three levels have been Brownies, 7 through 9; Intermediates, 10 through 13; and Seniors, 14 through 17. These groupings will be continued until the change in 1963.

The new age groupings will be one for 7 and 8 year olds; one for 9, 10 and 11 years; one for 12, 13 and 14; and one for 15, 16 and 17.

The conference will be held in Arlington, Va., on April 10, 11, 12, and 13. Attending will be Mrs. Harry J. Reese, president of the Scranton-Pocono Council; Miss Jeanne M. Gordon, executive director, and Miss Anna Johns, a staff member.

Pl. Valley, Pen Argyl, Hawley Are Foes

Stroud, Bangor, Poc. Mt. In Home Openers Today

STROUD High, stalled in its opening bid by Pen Argyl 9-5 to hit the winning trail, will attempt to even the count today against Pleasant Valley High.

The game, scheduled for 3:30 p.m., will be the home opener for the Stroudmen. Pocono Mountain Joint High School will open its '62 season today when it plays host to Hawley High. The sport is relatively new at the recently built school, but the Pocono group will have an array of talent from the various districts in the jointure.

The game, which starts at 3:30 p.m., will take place at the Pocono Township School field. All Pocono home games will be played at this diamond.

John Bush is piloting the Cardinals and Wayne Boyd is his assistant.

The Strouds will have a rivalry clash and one that will solve many issues.

Pen Argyl at Bangor

Arch rivals Bangor plays host to Pen Argyl High in an exhibition game. The tilt is the first of three for the two schools, as they will meet twice in the Lehigh-Northampton League action. Pen Argyl is defending champions of the loop. Game time is 3:30 p.m.

Pleasant Valley will also seek its first win as it hosts its debut Tuesday at East Stroudsburg. The Cavaliers sacked two home-

The Pen Argyl loss was a tough one for the Mountaineers as the team has the potential to gain a winning season. The Mounties began the season against one of the toughest of the Lehigh-Northampton league as Pen Argyl captured the crown last year and will be among the loop's top contenders.

Today's contest will be the second of three exhibition games the Stroudmen will play prior to its opener in Lehigh Valley on April 27 when the Mounties face Palmerton at the latter's field.

Next in Sight

Next in sight for Stroud Union is Pocono Mountain Joint High on April 17. The game will be played in Stroudsburg.

In its first loss Stroud Union and Pen Argyl both had seven hits, but a rough first inning for local club proved disastrous. The Green Knights rounded up seven runs to all but sew up the contest in the initial frame.

Coach Jerry Stulgaitis has contended that if the pitching staff goes, more or less, so will the club. The veteran coach also said a number of youngsters who are pushing real hard for the starting lineup.

Phil Treible, Don Kresge, two infielders and Halsey Marvin, an outfielder are showing much promise.

Pleasant Valley, directed by Art Smith, fell under a unusual homer barrage by the Cavaliers in their opening loss 5-3. The Cavs hit two homers in first six innings, and three more for nine runs in the seventh. However, the game was called on account of darkness and the score reverted to 5-3 count.

Both teams racked up five hits each in the fray.

Angels Triumph In Ninth 1-6 On Wagner's Solo HR

CHICAGO (AP) — Outfielder Leon Wagner's ninth-inning homer, barely clearing the right-center field bleacher wall, decided a brilliant mound duel between Los Angeles' Ken McBride and Chicago's rookie Joel Horlen for a 1-0 Angel triumph over the White Sox Thursday.

The game was played before only 1,087 in murky, drizzling weather with the Comiskey Park lights lighted from the third inning.

McBride, 26-year-old right-hander who had a 12-15 mark last season, hurled superbly after a bit of first inning trouble and held the White Sox to only four hits, striking out six.

5-Hitter

Horlen, 24, is a right-hander, scattered five hits and fanned five. But Wagner's clout ruined a fine performance.

Two of the Angels' five blows were doubles by veteran Eddie Yost which proved futile.

The Sox had an opening inning threat nipped on a fine throw to the plate by center fielder Lee Thomas. Luis Aparicio started the Sox first with a walk. The little American League 1961 base stealing champion stole second and then tried to scurry home on Nello Fox' hit to center. However, Thomas' peg on the fly to Angel catcher Bob Rodgers nailed Aparicio at the plate.

Twins Take 9-5 Verdict From Kansas

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Joe Bonkowski, a 21-year-old right-hander, pitched 5 1-3 innings of tight relief for Minnesota Thursday and the Twins backed him with timely hitting to take a 9-5 decision from the Kansas City Athletics.

The rookie hurler came on in the fourth inning after Dick Howser's inside the park home run with two on base had tied the score at 4-4. With two more men on base following the home run, Bonkowski relieved starter Don Lee and walked Norm Siebern intentionally to fill the bases. Then he made Leo Posada bounce into an inning-ending double play.

He gave up only one run the rest of the way, battling his own control and a stiff wind blowing up to 35 miles an hour as well as the Athletics' hitters.

Two walks and a hit filled the bases in the sixth but Bonkowski again got Posada for a bases filled third out, this time with a strikeout. In the eighth he gave up singles to Howser and Jose Tartabull. Howser scored the Athletics' fifth run as Jerry Lumpe hit into a forceout at second base.

150 Mile Race Is Highlight At Langhorne

THE 150-mile National championship race, sanctioned by SAC, exclusively, will highlight the 1962 inaugural card of auto racing at the Langhorne Speedway, May 6.

The 'Horne, in operation since 1926, enjoys a nationwide reputation as the fastest mile raceway in the popular sport. SAC, the sanctioning organization for the May 6 classic, is the same association that sanctions the annual Memorial Day '500 at Indianapolis. Many of the same top professional pilots who compete in the Hoosier event, will go post-ward in the Langhorne curtain raiser.

At the request of the promoters, SAC has agreed to issue temporary permits for qualified eastern drivers. They must meet all regulations and specifications and entered in a 1960 thru 1962 American made stock sedan. With race day still three weeks away, the local promoters already have verbal assurance from twenty-nine of SAC's top performers. Along with stock car supervisor for SAC, Emil Andres, the 'Horne promoters canvassed mid west and west coast drivers and came up with a most promising list of early entries.

The USAC stock car division continues to increase activity. Twenty-five events have been scheduled in this popular division, throughout the nation, carrying prize money in excess of $250,000. The May 6 championship at the Langhorne Speedway will present one of the finest fields ever to appear in eastern late model stock car competition.

Schoonover Fired As Coach

BLEAK BLEACHERS — A heavy spring snowstorm which dumped over six inches in the Twin Cities area, make the bleachers and field of Metropolitan Stadium at St. Paul-Minneapolis a bleak place yesterday. The outlook was dismal for today's Minnesota Twins American League baseball home opener. A man wields a shovel trying to clear the bleacher area. The Twins were slated to play the Los Angeles Angels. National League Baseball Returns To N.Y.C. Today

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

National League baseball returns to New York Friday after a 4-year lapse when Casey Stengel's Mets open their home season at the historic Polo Grounds against the Pittsburgh Pirates in one of six second openers.

The home opener of the Minnesota Twins, who hoped to entertain the Los Angeles Angels, has been postponed because of a 6-inch snowfall.

Snow, rain or heavy clouds combined to give a dreary weather outlook on this ominous Friday the 13th day.

Bow Next Week

The 11 openers already played, scattered over a 3-day period, drew a total of 315,711 fans. If the six Friday games get an unexpected break from the weatherman, they should add another 150,000 to the total. Minnesota will get started when the snow melts and the two remaining teams, Los Angeles Angels and Milwaukee, are not due to bow at home until next week.

The crowd of 52,564 that turned out to see new Dodger Stadium Tuesday will not be topped although Detroit hopes for 50,000 if the weather breaks.

Casey Stengel came out of retirement at the age of 71 to join his old New York Yankees boss, George Weiss, the Mets home debut will be watched with a great deal of interest. About 25,000 are due at the Polo Grounds, renovated at a cost of some $400,000.

The other second openers are scheduled at Baltimore, Detroit and Cleveland in the American League and Chicago and Philadelphia in the National. The Phillies game with Houston will be played at night.

The meeting of the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers who ran 1-2 all last season, commands top attention in the American League. It is an unusual pairing for opening day. Such rivalries normally are saved for warmer days when the race is hot. The weatherman says there will be snow flurries.

Giants Win 8-4 To Sweep Three-Game Braves Series

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Shortstop Jose Pagan drove in four runs and scored one Thursday, pacing San Francisco to an 8-4 victory over Milwaukee and a sweep of their three-game series.

Jack Sanford got credit for the victory but needed help from ace reliever Stu Miller after big Joe Adcock pounded a grand slam home run in the eighth with none out.

The undefeated Giants take on defending champion Cincinnati Friday night.

E-Burg Court Mentor Shuns Resignation

EAST STROUDSBURG State College track and field team will make its debut today when it faces New York City Community College at Red Hook Stadium, NYC.

Coach Charles Reese seems pleased with the '62 unit and the outlook for the season will be based upon the performance of a number of veterans.

Among the group are co-captains Russell Hopewell, high jump, broad jump and 440 specialist and Art Wilson, who performs well in the 100, 100 and 880 and broad jump. Hopewell, a senior, is from Waynesboro and Wilson is from Clark's Summit.

Hopewell was state champion last year in the 440 yard run and Wilson took state title in broad jump.

Lettermen back in addition to the co-captains, are Lee Ely, of Hamburg; William Smith of Madison, N. J.; Bruce Thomas, of Green Lane, Pa.; Dick Wilson from Liberty, N. Y.; Bob MacConnell from New Milford, Pa.; and Duane Toth of Pen Argyl.

Eastburg Freshman

Bill Bonser, who competes in the pole vault and 880, is a freshman from East Stroudsburg.

Among the juniors are: John Lowe, of Pottsville and Charles Warg of Weatherly; sophomores are: Harold Rover of Far Rockaway, N. Y.; Ronald Take of Quentini; Kenny Kutler of Upper Darby; Richard Lohs of Plymouth Meeting; Dick Simonds, of Philadelphia and Marsden Urmavac of Hop Bottom.

Gerry Dessart, of West Hempstead, N. Y. and Duane Ely of Kingsley, both freshmen, show lots of promise for the team.

Other freshmen on the squad are: Ray Hedenberg of Woodbury, N. J.; Eric Hupp of Parkersville, Md.; Walter Kilby of Woodbridge, N. J.; Jack Mateer of Leola; Steve Matukaitis of Mt. Carmel and John Savidge of Schoonover also is East Stroudsburg High School's swimming instructor and is assistant football coach.

Schoonover, in the past, had handed in his resignation. However no action was ever taken.

The athletic committee had Schoonover twice in for conferences and urged him to resign. Yesterday two more members of the same group went to the basketball coach and asked him to hand in his resignation. Again he refused.

Schoonover said last night that it was simply a case of "Eastburg wanting winning basketball."

"The athletic committee told me that I have a poor program and a poor fundamental system."

"I was fired," the graduate of Stroudsburg High School and East Stroudsburg State College pin-pointed.

Schoonover's assistant, James Werkheiser, resigned some time ago. No replacement was ever made by the Joint School Committee.

Schoonover said, "this year we moved ahead with a program designed to present better basketball next season."

"I felt next years team would be one of my better lives and thereby refused to resign," he declared.

"Basketball has its problems at East Stroudsburg. Of which all are not my doing I am more than sure," the Cavaliers' coach said.

He closed, "There is more to this than just the simple phrasing that my services be terminated."

Streams Fishable For '62 Opening

PENNSYLVANIA Fish Commission personnel report that most trout waters throughout the Commonwealth will be fishable when the trout season opens at 5 a.m. Saturday, in spite of the fact many streams will be from one to two feet higher than normal due to recent rains.

With few exceptions the scheduled pre-season release of 1,748,000 trout has been accomplished. An additional 12,000 three to four-year-old brown and rainbow trout normally reserved for Fisher-man's Paradise also have been distributed statewide. Fishermen are reminded that they must display their license on an outer garment at all times while fishing.

Jaipur Has Slight Bruise

NEW YORK (AP) — A slight heel bruise will keep Jaipur out of the $75,000 Wood Memorial April 21 at Aqueduct, owner George D. Widener said Thursday. His next major objective is the $150,000 Preakness May 19.

Widener said his star 3-year-old, who wasn't nominated for the Kentucky Derby, said there was a slight swelling of the heel after Jaipur galloped at Belmont Park on Tuesday.

He hopes to start the horse in another race before the Preakness, and it might be the $50,000 Withers mile at Aqueduct May 12.

Hall of Fame third baseman Harold (Pie) Traynor of Pittsburgh batted .330 in 1,941 games.

Weather conditions expected for Northeast region, Fish Warden Supervisor H. Clair Fleeger reporting. Temperatures: Air - 54-57, water 40-45 degrees. Barring heavy rains, most trout streams expected to be normal and clear by Saturday.

Susquehanna high, muddy; catfish, bullheads biting. Ice on Crystal Lake, opening at edges; shorelines open at Lorain, Furies Long Lake, Upper Woods Pond, ice unsafe, extreme caution advised. Prompt Dam clear of ice, discolored, high. Roads into Middle Branch, Wyalusing Creek and Gaylord Creek impassable, no trout stocking possible before Saturday.

Luzerne County sections of Bowman's Creek including the North Branch are on doubtful list to be stocked prior to Saturday, because of impassable roads. Streams in Monroe County are running one to two feet above normal and are expected to remain high over the week end. The and Sunday is for mild and mostly cloudy weather.

Monroe County is among the group that has completed its trout stocking program.

Some 42,000 fish were stocked in county streams and lake waters during the past weeks. The program was concluded on Monday when 1200 brown and 800 rainbow were stocked in the Buckwa Creek. Some 1600 rainbow and 800 brown trout were distributed the same day in the Big Bushkill Creek. A six-mile stretch of water along the Big Bushkill Creek has been designated as the fly fishing area.

The pre-season stocking covered some 114 miles of county streams and 13 and one-half acres of trout waters.

Following is a list of area locations approved for fly fishing.

Mud Run in Carbon County, 2.6 miles in state forest area.

Big Bushkill Creek, six miles on the Bruns property, except 200 yards each side of the Boy Scout camp.

Dyberry Creek, Wayne County, one mile from the Widmer property line about one mile below Tanner's Falls downstream to Mary Wilcox bridge.

Dear Abby

There Are Two Sides!

Dear Abby: I wish you would print something in your column about hairdressers. Why do they think they have to talk all the time? I go to the beauty parlor for a hair-do, not to listen to how hard they work, petty gossip about the other employees in the shop and all the dirt about the person they took care of before me. I travel quite a bit and find that it is the same no matter where I go. My husband says this is true of barbers, too.

BORED

Dear Bored: I also travel quite a bit, and I get the other side of the story. Hairdressers tell me they wish their customers would just relax and be quiet instead of telling them their troubles and gossiping about everyone they know. My husband gets around a lot, too, and tells me this is what the barbers tell him.

Dear Abby: There is a girl in our dorm who is knock-out to look at. She has a face and figure every girl envies and she has a great personality to go with it. Our problem is that she must be afraid of men. She is asked for dates, but if a boy even tries to put his arm around her she hauls off and just about fractures his skull. They say that it is like pulling teeth to get her to go out a second time with a fellow who is even mildly affectionate. How can we help her?

DORM MATES

Dear Dorm Mates: Fix her up with a dental student!

Dear Abby: I have been married for nine years. I married young just to get out of the house. I was completely honest with my husband and told him before he married me that I didn't love him. He said he would take that chance and I would learn to love him later.

We have five beautiful children. I respect him and admire him and am proud to be his wife because he is a kind and generous man and a wonderful father, but I still have not learned to love him. I am a good and faithful wife, but I know now that I will never have the kind of love every woman dreams of. (Not within my marriage at least.) Should I continue this loveless marriage? I am thinking of my children.

MISSING SOMETHING

Dear Missing: Keep thinking of those children. Many women have written to tell me that they married for "love" (the kind every woman dreams of) but it didn't last long. The reasons: they neither admired nor respected their husbands. If yours is kind, generous and a wonderful father, count your blessings. No one has everything.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Credits For ESSC Camp Trip

CREDITS may be earned from East Stroudsburg State College on either the undergraduate or the graduate level, by students who take a camping trip to The Yellowstone National Park, leaving from ESSC August 3 and returning August 28.

The decision to give credits on both levels was announced yesterday by the health and physical education department at ESSC. The trip, which will cover 5,400 miles, will be made in the college bus, under the supervision of Miss Helen G. Brown, director of recreation at the local college.

The undergraduate may earn the American Camping Assn. Campcraft badge and certification. Graduate students may earn the ACA's Tripcraft badge and certification.

According to Miss Brown, this course is the only credit course of its kind offered by any college in the country. The cost of the trip will be $250 plus the regular undergraduate or graduate registration fees.
